

GERMAN ARMY CORPS LOST

In Forests West of Paris—
Belgium Army Suddenly
Resumes Offensives.

AND ARE NEAR BRUSSELS

London, Sept. 11.—[S. A. M.]—
"The first official admission on the German side of success by the allies," says a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam, "appears in official communications issued in Berlin this afternoon.
Gen. Von Stern announces that the German army which had advanced across the Marne, to the east of Paris, was heavily attacked by the enemy between Paris, Meaux and Montmirail."

"The fighting lasted two days.
The German army had checked
the enemy and had even itself
advanced, but stronger hostile columns came to the assistance of the allies and the enemy won the battle, compelling the German troops to retire. Fifty guns were captured by the allies and some thousands of men made prisoners."

"To the west of Verdun, fighting continues. The situation in Lorraine and the Vosges is unchanged. The battle in eastern Prussia has been resumed."

German Army Corps Lost
Off Northwest of Paris

A Paris dispatch to the Daily
Chronicle says:
"In the haste of the German latest retrograde movement,
many regiments of Germans have been cut off and remain in the wooded country within the triangle of Senlis, Compiègne and Dammartin. It is believed that they amount in all to about one army corps. They have been cut off from the main body by the allied lines between Compiègne and Meaux and their situation is precarious."

"The remarkable resistance of the fortress at Marbais to the invading Germans is one of the most interesting features of the campaign. Because of its situation and its history it has undoubtedly seriously embarrassed the Germans in bringing up field guns against Paris and maintaining their communications."

"Laon and La Fere have been invested by the Germans and have perhaps fallen. It is not announced what has happened at Rheims, which may play an important part in the German retreat continues."

Invite you to attend their

Fall Opening

of Pattern, Ready-to-Wear and Picture Hats

Friday, September 18, 1914

They have secured the best line of hats the market affords and can please you no matter how fastidious you may be. Our millinery Misses Renshaw and Bernard are fully experienced and have purchased a full line of millinery goods of the latest designs. They will appreciate a call from the people of Earlington and vicinity.

You attention is called to our Ladies' and Gents' Furnishings and Dry Goods Department.

When you spend your money you want full value for every cent you spend.

You insist on knowing the real value of articles you buy, and you are justly entitled to that knowledge.

You insist on having just what you want, and you are averse to accepting substitutes.

That is the attitude of the discerning women today, the women who makes the home what it is.

We know this and have purchased our stock of dry goods and ladies' furnishings with these requirements in view, purchased to please YOU to give you that high combination of value and appearance which means real economy in every purchase.

We give you exactly what you ask for—never a substitute. The more YOU know of the value of our goods the better it pleases us; for then you will know that this is a store where "economy" means something more than an empty word.

Don't Forget the Opening Date Friday September 18

We want to see all our friends on this date and will appreciate a call

Profitable Prices For Farm Products

The greatest encouragement that can be given agriculture is profitable prices for farm products. Crop destroying insects

have been a stubborn enemy,

and Jupiter Pluvius has played many pranks on the farmer, but there is no pestilence like low prices: they will sap the life-

blood of an industry.

It is one of the most pitiful sights in twentieth century civilization to see a farmer after he has raised a crop sit helplessly

by and watch the bulls and bears

of Europe and America trample

over it, and yet if the farmer

will only organize and co-operate

he can successfully fence out these animals that devastate his products after the harvest.

The Kentucky farmer needs

co-operation as badly as diversification.

CROP OUTLOOK

MUCH BETTER

Rains of Past Month Have Greatly Benefited All Farm Products—Change Noted is Wonderful.

AVERAGE YIELDS ARE

PROMISED PLANTERS

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 10.—In his crop report for the month of September, Commissioner of Agriculture Newhall says that a month of seasonable weather has made a vast change in the crop outlook for this year. The condition of the tobacco and corn crops have improved to such an extent that average crops
will be realized.

The report follows:
"It is difficult to believe that such a change in conditions could be made within thirty days. Farmers and livestock men of the State are rejoicing over improved conditions.

Conditions Improved

"The report of September 1 shows the condition of corn eighty-three per cent as compared with sixty-five per cent August 1. Burley tobacco eight per cent as compared with fifty-six per cent. Dark tobacco seventy-two per cent as compared with sixty-two per cent. Cow peas and soy beans show a condition of eighty-one per cent and eighty-two per cent, respectively. Bluegrass shows a condition of eighty-two per cent as compared with sixty-four per cent; alfalfa eighty-seven per cent as compared with sixty-five per cent; clover, seventy-one per cent as compared with fifty-five per cent. Even fruit has been greatly improved by the rains. Livestock is given as being in better condition than a month ago. Garden conditions have increased from a condition of fifty-one per cent to sixty-four per cent.

"In this connection it seems advisable to call the attention of the farmers of the State to the fact that the every indication points to a high price for foodstuff for next year.
The United States Government authorities, the railroads and commercial bodies of the country are encouraging the sowing of a large acreage for winter wheat. The European war will undoubtedly cause grain and livestock produced in America to bring good prices during the next few months, if not for several years. We, therefore, urge all farmers to increase their wheat acreage, and to use bone meal or acid phosphate on their wheat lands.

Peace and Prosperity Promised

"The State has not been so free of hog cholera for several years. Farmers will do well to keep their brood sows and to increase their number of sheep. Pork and mutton prices will unquestionably be high. If the war continues any length of time,
wool will be much higher next year than this. The agents for European governments are buying horses and mules at the present time. Prices have not materially advanced but with the war lasting for a few months, it is reasonable to expect cavalry and artillery horses as well as mules, to very materially advance price.

"The tobacco grower will rejoice
over the determination of the Federal Reserve Board to accept notes secured by warehouse receipts on tobacco to the extent of seventy-five per cent of the value of the crop from bank members of the Federal Reserve Association.

"Taken as a whole, the Kentucky farmer has every reason for looking to the future with a hopeful feeling.
Every indication is that peace and prosperity is in prospect for him.

Acute Indigestion

"I was annoyed for over a year by attacks of acute indigestion, followed by constipation," writes Mrs. M.
J. Gallagher, Geneva, N. Y. "I tried everything that was recommended to me for this complaint
but nothing did me much good until about four months ago I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised, and procured a bottle of them from our druggist. I soon realized that I had gotten the right thing for they helped me at once. Since taking two bottles of them I can eat heartily without any bad effects." Sold

Exonerated

THE members of the Colorado Guard have been exonerated, after trial by court-martial, on charges growing out of the sanguinary miners' strike. This was to have been expected and is well deserved. We know of nothing more provocative of anarchy than attacks on our National Guard whenever they are called out to enforce law and order.

The strike in Colorado, as has been attested by Chambers of Commerce, the Masonic fraternity, the Colorado Law and Order League and by Governor Ammons himself, was not due to the miners of that state, for 10,000 of them continued to work in spite of the violence of certain agitators representing only 2,000 strikers. These agitators insisted on the discharge of the satisfied 10,000 workmen unless they joined the United Mine Workers of America, and unless they contributed their assessments regularly to the support of the latter. A reign of terror followed the refusal of the mine owners to consent to the proposition of the agitators and the militia was called out to maintain peace.

Gov. Ammons, of Colorado, says that the members of the National Guard of that State embrace farmers, tradesmen, mechanics and artisans "with an unusually large proportion of professional men who have served their state with a truly commendable devotion to the sacrifice of their own personal interests, risking their lives in a quarrel not of their making and in which they had no interest." He adds: "They have not been paid this year, even the pittance that is allowed by law. If ever patriotism found expression, it is in the uncompensated and unselfish services of these soldiers of the state who have only the consciousness of a duty performed to reward them, and upon whom has been heaped the opprobrium and abuse that private interests have dictated."

Every good citizen will rejoice that the court-martial sustained the Governor's judgment of the patriotic record of the Colorado National Guard. And now it is said that the Federal troops are being subjected to abuse similar to that to which the Colorado soldiers were compelled to submit. Agitators are again seeking to break up peaceful conditions in the mines by directing a new strike. The patience of the people of Colorado has been sorely tried, but we doubt if the latter will submit; to another reign of terror without inflicting summary punishment upon those who are responsible for it.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES

They Are Closely Observing Public Health Conditions

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease.

According to this it would seem that a medicine for the kidneys, possessing real healing and curative properties, would be a blessing to thousands.

Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., who prepare Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the well known kidney, liver and bladder remedy, claim that judging from evidence received from druggists everywhere, who are constantly in touch with their customers, and also indisputable proof in the form of grateful testimonial letters from thousands of reliable citizens, this preparation is remarkably successful in sickness caused by kidney and bladder troubles. Every interesting statement they receive regarding Swamp-Root is investigated and no testimonial is published unless the party who sends it is reported of good character. They have on file many sworn statements of recoveries in the most distressing cases. They state that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is mild and gentle in its action and its healing influence is soon noticed in most cases.

Swamp-Root is purely an herbal compound and Dr. Kilmer & Co. advise all readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes—50c. and $1.00. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation sent 10 cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Earlington Semi-Weekly Bee.

The Warrior and the Peasant

By Robert G. Ingersoll

A LITTLE while ago I stood by the grave of the old Napoleon—a magnificent tomb of gilt and gold, fit almost for a dead deity. I thought of the orphans and widows he had made—of the tears that had been shed for his glory, and of the only woman who ever loved him, pushed from his heart by the cold hand of ambition. And I said I would rather have been a French peasant and worn wooden shoes; I would rather have lived in a hut with a vine growing over the door, and the grapes growing purple in the kisses of the autumn sun; I would rather have been that poor peasant with my loving wife by my side, knitting as the day died out of the sky—with my children upon my knees and their arms about me. I would rather have been that man and gone down to the tongueless silence of the dreamless dust than to have been that imperial impersonation of force and murder.

Chance For Coal Miners

England has put an embargo on coal because a shortage is feared. Steaming coal is the prime necessity for all naval and commercial vessels and America is a neutral country with an inexhaustible supply of coal. There is a prospect of a long war and a continued tremendous demand for American coal.

Kentucky, with her developing coal fields, should reap a part of the profits of the increased demand and limited supply of coal. —Frankfort State Journal.

The World's Greatest Financier

The world's greatest financier is the Kentucky farmer's housewife. Her daily investments exceed in shrewdness the clever transactions of Wall Street and no business concern or corporation, however ably officered, has ever been able to approach her in economy. She is the nation's ablest trader and her transactions more nearly reflect the progress and prosperity of the country than the reports of our clearing houses.

All legislation, financial or otherwise, ought to be so plain that the housewife can understand it. Our legislators, state and national, shoot so far over the head of the average citizen that those who are unable to employ an attorney and accept his statements in blind faith, must forever remain in ignorance of our laws. Of course we have so many laws that no human can expect to read them and survive the ordeal, but any person who feels an irresistible impulse to legislate, should try his proposed law on his neighbor and get it down where the common people can understand it before attempting to put it on the statute books.

No Bread Famine in

United States This Year

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10—There will be no bread famine in the United States this year. The largest wheat crop in history has just been harvested and according to the United States Department of Agriculture the total production is approximately 911,000,000 bushels, nearly 150,000,000 bushels more than any previous crop produced in the United States. We have at least 250,000,000 bushels of wheat which is not needed for consumption at home or for seed. The surplus production of the United States usually goes to Europe, but under present conditions, caused by the European war, this surplus cannot cross the ocean. About 75,000,000 bushels have already been taken for export, but most of it is being held at the ports of departure.

Conditions across the water are not so encouraging. War in Europe tends to prevent the shipment of wheat from surplus European countries to those which need imports—for example—from Russia to France, and a famine there seems inevitable.

Kentucky Crop Statistics

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10—The Crop Reporting Board of the United States Department of Agriculture today gave out the following estimates of Kentucky crops for 1913:

CORN—3,650,000 acres, 74,825,000 bushels, $56,887,000 farm value.

HAY—775,000 acres, 674,000 tons, $11,121,000 farm value.

WHEAT—725,000 acres, 9,860,000 bushels, $9,466,000 farm value.

OATS—160,000 acres, 3,168,000 bushels, $1,647,000 farm value.

IRISH POTATOES—50,000 acres, 2,450,000 bushels, $2,499,000 farm value.

TOBACCO—370,000 acres, 281,200,000 pounds, $28,120,000 farm value.

RYE—22,000 acres, 278,000 bushels, $238,000 farm value.

BARLEY—3,000 acres, 80,000 bushels, $62,000 farm value.

SWEET POTATOES—9,000 acres, 675,000 bushels, $634,000 farm value.

PERMANENT ROAD WORK.

If you have any influence in the kind of road work done in your county use your effort to have the work done permanently. Kansas spends much money each year replacing temporary culverts and bridges and in working over grades. It should be the practice to make any extensive improvements or alterations only after securing the advice of a competent highway engineer. The temporary employment of such an official is quite practicable, and the returns will be many hundred per cent on the outlay.

The loss of bridges and culverts in a relocated and graded road is generally heavy. Most constructions, even if found in fairly good condition, are totally destroyed by removal. A conspicuous exception is the corrugated iron pipe. When made from high purity iron these culverts are but slightly affected by rust and can thus be rightfully classed as permanent improvements, but they are also ideal for a temporary location, as they suffer no damage in being dug out and relaid. Brick, stone or concrete should be employed only where the location is fixed for all time and where also an absolutely rigid foundation can be secured.—Kansas Farmer.

FOR BETTER ROADS IN DOMINION OF CANADA.

The Government is inaugurating a Systematic Campaign.

Canada is preparing for a systematic campaign for the improvement of all her roads, especially those joining the Dominion with the United States, according to an announcement made by I. S. Pennypacker, executive assistant of the American Highway association, who attended the first Canadian road congress.

American tourists who have been distressed by Canadian roads will welcome the announcement made by Mr. Pennypacker, because it is believed that within a comparatively short time it will be possible to motor over good roads in Canada. The chief obstacle in the way of accomplishment of the Canadian Good Road association, which he assisted in forming, is the fact that there are some political differences between the provincial and Dominion governments as to the expenditure of road funds. Commenting on the situation, Mr. Pennypacker said:

"In spite of these obstacles I am convinced that within a short time there will be a noticeable improvement of the roads in Canada. As the congress progressed a better understanding was apparent, and political differences were lost sight of. The Dominion government, through its representative, the secretary of state, seemed to take a deep interest in the subject of road improvement and pledged the government to aid the provinces in every way possible. While it is true that the roads in Canada for the main part are in rather bad shape, this congress will undoubtedly be the entering wedge to a movement which will spread throughout the various provinces. The permanent organization which was formed is designed to bring together all factions and to unite the provinces into one centralized movement for the betterment of roads."

MILLIONS FOR ROAD WORK.

Many States Have Large Appropriations For Present Year.

Michigan has appropriated $4,153,972 for good roads during 1914 and stands fifth in the roll of the states setting aside money for road work. Completion made by the American Highway association and transmitted to Secretary George F. Ballou of the Associated Roads Organization of Chicago shows that twenty-five of the states have appropriated a total of $62,201,016, and Iowa leads the states with $7,310,000 set aside, while New York state comes second with $6,000,000, Minnesota third with $5,672,254, North Carolina fourth with $5,000,000 and Michigan fifth with $4,153,972.

The state of Maryland has set aside $3,700,000 and Ohio $3,500,000, while Pennsylvania has set aside $3,500,000 also. Other states that have made noteworthy appropriations include Oregon, $3,280,000; Massachusetts, $2,440,315; West Virginia, $2,286,000; North Dakota, $2,365,000; Virginia, $2,000,000; Mississippi, $1,720,000; Illinois, $1,300,000, and others, including New Jersey, Alabama, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Idaho, Wisconsin, Delaware and Kentucky, less than $1,000,000. The last named state has set aside but $25,000 for road work.

The postoffice department has become intimately identified with the good roads movement through the fact that it employs 43,000 rural free delivery carriers, and these carriers travel a total of about 300,000 miles.

Motoring Abroad.

A new system of customs regulations is now in force in Europe that will greatly facilitate and cheapen the movements of motorists from country to country. With the exception of Germany, Russia and Sweden, practically every country of Europe has adopted the new international customs pass, and customs officers have been instructed in its use. For general touring it takes the place of the triptych system and requires only one customs deposit and only one set of papers.

A WATER RESCUE

By LOUISE B. CUMMINGS

George MacElroy spent his summers on the Atlantic coast and always owned some sort of boat. The first he owned was a skiff with a leg-o-mutton sail; the second was a dory, rigged in the same way; the third a twenty foot single sticker. And when he reached the age of twenty his father gave him a yacht, capable of sleeping half a dozen persons comfortably.

George found it all he could do to run his yacht on his limited income. Indeed, he could not have done so at all had he not been his own captain, quartermaster, cabin boy and cook for the greater part of the time. Once while laying up near New York he was attacked and robbed by river pirates. He at once provided himself with arms, including a couple of small cannon for ward and a single gun of greater caliber astern, which he called Long Tom. After getting aboard this armament he felt easier. Unless surprised he felt that he could stand off any ordinary gang. But to avoid loneliness he took into his service Cyrus Barker, a boy of fifteen, who was at home on the water and ill at ease on land.

One hot July day, when there was no wind, George was moving under the power of his motor engine, making toward Portland, Me., from the south. He had the lighthouses on his port quarter standing out white in the sun, but he was rather interested in a yacht to the westward of him. She was some seventy tons burden and very trim. No one but a rich person could have afforded to run her. While MacElroy was looking at her the flag flying from her stern was lowered and raised again, union down, which is a signal of distress. It remained flying for about a minute, when it was hauled down and replaced as it had been before.

George was puzzled. The yacht was moving along at a steady rate of about eight knots and did not seem in any way crippled. There was no likelihood of illness aboard or want of supplies, for Portland was within an hour's sail. The signal seemed to be for the Hope—George's yacht—for he was much nearer than any other vessel to the boat that had signaled. Something must be wrong aboard of her.

George pointed the Hope to incline toward the signaling yacht. When the flag was righted it had been done in a hurry, as though some one was offended that it had been put up union down. Perhaps persons were aboard who needed assistance. If so it behooved the skipper of the Hope to keep a sharp lookout and be on his guard at the same time.

In the course of an hour the Hope was sailing directly astern of the yacht and about a mile distant. Cy Barker was on the forecabin and sang out that there was a woman's sunshade floating on the water ahead. George put the Hope on a line with it, and on reaching it Cy picked it up. It had been used to buoy a bottle containing a note written in a woman's hand:

Help! I am kidnapped by my guardian, who is taking me to an insane asylum.

EMMA BORLAND.

"Here's an adventure and no mistake," said George to Cy. "I've counted three men on the yacht, and we don't know how many more, there are, but we've got guns and ammunition enough to sink her, and we must effect a rescue. She's evidently not going into Portland; she'll probably lose herself among the islands to the eastward—that is, if she's trying to throw any one off the track. We must catch her before dark or lose her. Get up the ammunition for the two forward barkers and load them."

George put on all his power and gained rapidly on the yacht, whose name—the Swallow—now appeared on her stern. She did not seem to fear the Hope till George sent a shot after her, which he aimed to go a cable's length to the starboard, and then so great was the surprise of her crew that they didn't seem to know what to do. But presently another shot, still nearer, caused them to shut off their power. George when he came within hailing distance did the same.

"What do you want?" was called from the Swallow.

"The person of Emma Borland."

"On what authority?"

"On the authority of myself. Send her to me in a boat or I'll rake you fore and aft. I've three big guns aboard."

There was evidently a prolonged consultation on the Swallow. What was said, whatever their reasons for assenting to his demand, George did not know, but presently a boat put out and was pulled for the Hope. George and Cy kept it covered with rifles. When it came alongside there sat a very pretty girl and her maid. George helped them aboard, the boat pulled back to the Swallow, and she sailed away.

Miss Borland had got one of the crew, who was at the wheel, on her side, and he permitted her to hoist a distress signal. George took the women to Portland and engaged a lawyer for Miss Borland, who had no difficulty in establishing her sanity. Her guardian left for parts unknown and has not been since heard from. George now runs a much finer yacht than the Hope, but it required the fortune of Emma Borland to buy and run it. She gave it to him with herself for the inestimable service he had done her.

There is satisfaction in good snuff to all why use it. The higher the quality the greater the satisfaction. In Red Band Snuff you have the very highest quality of snuff that can be made, and it costs you no more than cheap snuff. It costs more to manufacture Red Band than other snuffs, and the price is higher to the merchant. Reason this out and use Red Band Snuff.

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured

"My attention was first called to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as much as twelve years ago. At that time I was seriously ill with summer complaints. One dose of this remedy checked the trouble," writes Mrs. C. W. Florence, Rockfield, Ind. For sale by all dealers.

No Telling What She'll Do

Whenever a town girl gets too proud to marry a man with 100 acres of land and 20 red pigs, just because he wears blue jeans and can't tell the tango from any other vegetable, you can set it down as a fact that she will either die an old maid or marry a $6-a-week clerk with a head full of ozone and one change of socks. We would rather be hooked up to somebody who wears 49c overalls and knows when to hit the top of the market as to be yoked to some pampered son of society who plays the mandolin, smokes Egyptian cigarettes and lives off his father's pension. But there's no accounting for tastes.—Exchange.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

"I advised the 'boys' when they enlisted for the Spanish war to take Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with them, and have received many thanks for the advice given," writes J. H. BERNHARDT

Actress and Author Play and Screen and Screen Play

A pretty story comes from Paris of a contest in compliments between Mme. Sarah Bernhardt and Edmond Rostand, the poet, in which the Arfouse and Gaston stunt is put to shame. Mme. Bernhardt telegraphed to a Paris newspaper that she had entered suit against Rostand because a poster of a cinematograph performance of his play "L'Aiglon" had been stuck up right opposite her Paris theater and would hurt her business. Mme. Sarah was most put out by the use of the title "L'Aiglon," which she claims belongs to her so far as concerns the stage.

The brilliant author of "L'Aiglon" seems to have been distressed at the anger which had been aroused against him in the bosom of the "divine Sarah," and he telegraphed her:

"I know nothing about the case, but I would rather cut my hand off than engage a lawyer against Mme. Bernhardt. No human force could make me defend myself against her. Whatever she wishes is right, and I grant her all the profits arising from films of my work. I kiss her hand, gracious as a lily."

This tribute from the poet evidently touched Mme. Bernhardt deeply, as it is stated that she promptly wired to the Paris press declaring her purpose to refuse to accept Rostand's moving picture profits, which are estimated at $40,000.

This is an interesting and signal instance of a soft answer turning away wrath.—Columbia Record.

FRANCE MAY TAX DUELS.

One of the New Deputies Has a Brilliant Scheme to Propose.

One of the newly elected Parisian deputies says he intends to propose in the French chamber the imposition of a tax on duels. His argument will be that duels are a form of advertisement and as such are as liable to taxation as posters and prospectuses. He suggests that duels shall be divided into three classes—third, second and first, in ascending order of taxable magnitude. For a third class duel, with the ordinary four seconds, a couple of general practitioners and a scratch in the forearm, the tax will be 50 francs. The proces-verbaux, or official accounts of the duel, must be written on paper stamped with a six-penny stamp.

For a second class duel, giving a right to decorated seconds—that is, seconds with orders in their buttonholes—hospital doctors and descriptive reporters, the tax will be 100 francs. There will be an additional charge of 20 francs per camera and 60 francs per cinematograph apparatus.

Those who desire a first class duel must be prepared to pay 2,000 francs—£80—to the fisc. But for that they are entitled to have umpires, a jury of honor, a famous swordsman as director of combat and a reconciliation on the field of honor to the accompaniment of a brass band or stringed orchestra. The sanguine deputy estimates that such a tax, loyally imposed and exacted, will bring over £1,000,000 a year to the exchequer.—London Globe.

Shot Dead by a Corpse.

On the road between Aarau and Wildegg the body of a young Swiss, aged twenty, who had committed suicide by shooting himself through the head, was found by peasants, who at once informed the police, as it is prohibited by the Swiss law in such cases to touch a corpse. A gendarme named Bodmer arrived on the scene and found the young man still holding the revolver with his lifeless finger on the trigger. Hardly had the gendarme touched the hand of the corpse to remove the revolver when a shot was heard, and Bodmer fell mortally injured. He was found to have been shot through the abdomen and died in the hospital a few hours later. He was the father of several children.—London Standard.

Alfonso's Forebodings.

The Countess de Cisneros, born at Brooklyn, is a prima donna of great beauty and of marvelous talent. She recently sang at a concert given by the king and queen at Madrid. At the close of the evening Alfonso XIII. complimented in English the delightful musician. "I confess to you," said the king, "that it has been the dream of my life to visit the United States. The rumor of this voyage has spread, but my government has interdicted this pleasure. I shall never see America except as an exile, and that certainly is a happening that I do not desire."—Cri de Paris.

He Was the Oldest Aeronaut.

M. Wilfrid de Fonvielle, who has just died, was the oldest aeronaut in the world. Two of his ascents have remained famous. In 1858 he established a record by remaining two whole days in the air between Paris and Compiègne. In 1869, in company with Gaston Tissandier, he made another record of a different kind by covering a distance of ninety kilometers in the space of thirty-five minutes. Born on July 26, 1826, he was approaching his eighty-eighth birthday.—Westminster Gazette.

Out of Date Anyway.

A correspondent writes us to know if we can give the origin of the old poem about the little child shyly clinging to its mother's skirts. We cannot, but it is terribly out of date anyway, for the present mother is so shy on skirt that any child would have trouble in getting hold of enough to cling to.—Portland (Me.) Express.

INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

SAN FRANCISCO

To be Given the Most Popular Teacher in Hopkins County

WHO WILL BE THE LUCKY TEACHER TO WIN THIS WONDERFUL VACATION NEXT YEAR?

The Bee has completed arrangements to send the most popular teacher on a four weeks' trip to the two big expositions in California next year, the Panama Pacific International Exposition at San Diego. The Bee realizes that a trip of this kind will benefit our teachers greatly because 1915 will be a historic year, a red letter year not only in American History, but in the history of the world. An event of a lifetime—1915—marks the completion of the greatest achievement of man in the history of the world—the Panama Canal. The completion of this achievement will be celebrated in San Francisco by the greatest exposition the world has ever seen: The Panama-Pacific International Exposition, in which the countries of the world will participate on an unprecedented scale.

The free trip offered will be educational and instructive as well as entertaining. The routes traversed to the Expositions and return will be through the "Fairland of the West"—a magnificent trip by rail across the continent, through scenic New Mexico and Arizona where are found Indian pueblos, petrified forests, snow-capped mountain peaks and titanic chasms. The Grand Canyon of Arizona is the world's most sublime scenic wonder, miles wide, a mile deep and painted in all the colors of the rainbow; the old missions in California, with their sandaled priests and Spanish customs; the Panama-California Exposition at San Diego; Los Angeles with its many attractive sights and Orange Groves; then on to San Joaquin Valley, to San Francisco and the Exposition.

On the way back via Nevada, the Great Salt Lake and the Land of Mormons, Pike's Peak, and the mountains of picturesque Colorado with their awe-inspiring grandeur. The trip of a lifetime. From an educational standpoint, the trip is truly a wonderful one.

THE PLAN

Here is the plan the Bee has prepared for sending the most popular teacher on this four weeks' vacation. Beginning in this issue the Bee will publish nomination coupons for our readers to use in nominating their favorite teachers. Cut out these coupons and fill in the name of the teacher you would like to have sent on this big trip. The nominations will be held open for three weeks. The names of the nominees will be published each week.

Each subscriber to the Special Clubbing Combination Offer will be entitled to Mileage Stamps. Each stamp represents one mile of the journey to San Francisco. Ten Mileage Stamps will be given with each subscription; these in turn can be given to your favorite teacher, who will be provided with an International Mileage Book and the teacher who succeeds in getting the largest number of the Mileage Stamps in her book by the close of the contest will be awarded the Free Trip to the Exposition.

To make it easy to get enough mileage stamps to win this great vacation trip, the Bee has arranged with four of the best and most widely read magazines, Woman's World, Household, People's Popular Monthly and Farm Life. We will offer a year's subscription to all four magazines, together with one year to the Bee, at the special price of $1.25 for all five. Each order entitles the subscribers to ten Mileage Stamps.

Send the name of the teacher you have picked out to go on this vacation, then help her to earn the trip by having your friends subscribe for this big bargain and get as many Mileage Stamps as possible. Scholars, get busy and secure new subscribers for this remarkable combination clubbing offer. Help send your teacher to the Exposition.

RULES OF CONTEST

Any school teacher in Hopkins county can be nominated. Each issue will contain nomination blanks. Fill in the name of your favorite and mail or leave the nomination blank at our office. Every subscription to the Special Combination Clubbing offer will entitle the subscriber to Ten Mileage Stamps to give to his favorite teacher. Mileage will be given for combination orders only; no mileage will be allowed for a separate subscription for any one of the five publications in the combination. Subscription blanks will be furnished to the contest and their friends at this office.

There are no restrictions as to territory in securing combination orders and mileage. The date of the close of the contest will be announced later. Ample time will be given, as the Exposition does not open until February, 1915.

The teacher having the greatest number of stamps in her mileage book will be declared the winner. For any additional information address, Free Trip Exposition Bureau, c/o Earling-Ky.

Nominate your favorite teacher on this blank, then mail or leave at Bee Office.

Warning to Publishers.

Newspaper publishers will be interested, if not enlightened, in a statement made by R. Kendrick Smith, of Boston, at the recent convention of the American Osteopathic Association at Philadelphia. According to the Philadelphia Telegraph, Dr. Smith is reported to have said that one great aim of the American Medical Association is the absolute autocratic control through Governmental offices of the healing art in the whole country. To attain this end he says the organization has in the last few years plunged into the most enormous propaganda of moulding public opinion through the newspapers which has ever been seen.

"This purpose becomes more evident," he continued, "when it is realized that the American Medical Association is not what its name implies, an association open to all American physicians, but is an exclusive organization of old school practitioners, that is, of medicine known as allopathy.

Newspaperdom is a chief for any school of medicine, Christian Science or the makers of proprietary medicines, but it does not feel that newspaper publishers should have all the facts about every move made by any group that attempts to form a "closed corporation" of its own, to secure official control of the medication to the public in a National way. We feel sure that if the American Medical Association, for instance, ever got a complete grip on Congress it could so influence legislation as to wipe out the osteopath, the Christian Scientist and the proprietary medicine manufacturer completely off the map.

And as this Association is on record as opposed to any remedy that is advertised in the newspapers, we are inclined to believe that its bitter fight against proprietary medicines is not so much in the interest of public health as it is for its own selfish advantage.

Newspaperdom would caution publishers to scan carefully the "news items" hereafter that come through their good doctor friends.

Newspaperdom doesn't believe any doctor of any school, or any board of health, which might be packed, should have such sweeping power to destroy a business of this kind, especially when there is such a business of this kind, especially when there is such a diversity of opinion as to the curative property of all drugs and the chemical recreation of drugs in the system.

There was a time when the family physician wrote out his prescriptions and sent the patient with them to the neighboring druggist. But that practice has all but passed away.

Many doctors nowadays buy their drugs and pills in bulk and dispense them themselves. Under the old system it was possible to trace mistakes. Then the druggist was responsible. Now, no person may be given improper medicine, may die, and the same doctor pass on the "charge of death." It would hardly seem logical that he would judge himself guilty, even if he actually was. Therefore we urge a careful perusal of the medical news that goes into your paper, and especially urge a thorough investigation of the "pressure" being brought upon you to drop proprietary medicine advertising from your columns. As Post said, "There's a reason."
